

Aaron Gravelle

University and Competitive Research Team Lead, DOE NE

Aaron Gravelle serves as the Team Leader for the University and Competitive Research Team in the Office of Nuclear Energy Technologies in the Office of Nuclear Energy (NE) where he is responsible for NE's University Program (NEUP) and its competitive R&D and infrastructure portfolio, as well as the offices competitive fellowship and scholarship opportunity through the University Nuclear Leadership Program (UNLP).

Gravelle has nearly 30 years of procurement and management experience in both government and industry. Prior to his current position, Gravelle served as the Program Manager for NEUP at the Idaho Operations Office, and as a Contracting Officer with the Department of Energy and Department of Defense.

