

Scholarships

The Office of Nuclear Energy's Integrated University Program (IUP) funds undergraduate scholarships as part of the U.S. Department of Energy's (DOE) ongoing commitment to educating the next generation of nuclear scientists and engineers. Scholars receive a 1-year, $7,500 award to pursue their undergraduate degrees at U.S. universities and colleges. Students can apply in subsequent years.

Applicants must be:

- U.S. citizens or legal permanent residents
- At least a sophomore in college when the award begins
- Enrolled in an IUP-accepted college or university
- Studying nuclear science or engineering, or a related field
- A student with a cumulative GPA of 3.25 or higher

Applicants must provide:

- A Personal Career Goals essay identifying the applicant's long-term career goals and how those goals align to the DOE-NE mission
- Three reference letters
- Official college transcripts
- Standardized test scores (e.g., ACT, SAT, and Compass)

Since FY 2009, DOE has awarded 496 undergraduate scholarships to students from 61 U.S. universities and colleges.
